Pamper time for 'look-alike' puss

A PAMPERED puss from Harlow is the cat's whiskers after finishing runner-up in a national look-alike competition.

Black and white moggie Jude beat more than 50 entries to win second place in a competition to find cats most resembling Postman Pat's famous sidekick Jess.

Owner Anne King, of Holme Close, is a volunteer at the Chestnut Cat Sanctuary and said she would share Jude's £50 gift voucher prize with the rescue animals.

"I plan to use some of the money to pamper Jude and the rest to buy food for the sanctuary," she said. "I'm sure it's what Jude wants!"

The Spot the Difference competition was run by charity group the Feline Advisory Bureau to publicise its new campaign to raise awareness of the hidden signs of pain in cats.

Man responsible for more than 650 crimes is released from jail after 18 months

CALL THAT JUSTICE?

BRADLEY WERNHAM

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has called for tougher sentencing for serial offenders following the early release of a prolific Harlow thief responsible for more than 650 crimes.

Burglar Bradley Wernham (21), dubbed a one-man crimewave when he is now a free man. The time he had already spent in jail while on remand was taken into account when his release date was set.

Wernham, formerly of Orchard Croft, Harlow, stole around £1m worth of property during his six-year spree and is believed to have been single-handedly responsible for a 500 per cent spike in the number of dwelling burglaries in the Chelmsford area alone.

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

But just 18 months after being sentenced to five years behind bars he is now a free man. The time he had already spent in jail while on remand was taken into account when his release date was set.

This week Mr Halfon has written to both Home Secretary Theresa May and Justice Secretary Ken Clarke expressing his concerns over the leniency shown to Wernham. He has also tabled an Early Day Motion calling on the Government to "toughen up" sentencing guidelines for career criminals.

"For far too long our criminal justice system has given more rights to criminals than to the rights of victims and the case of Mr Wernham is a classic example," he told the Star. "I am urging the Home Secretary for much tougher sentencing so thugs get the proper time in jail they deserve."

"We should have just one message for individuals like Mr Wernham: if you don't want the time, don't do the crime."

Astonishingly, Wernham's early release is not the first time he has been shown leniency. In October 2009 Chelmsford Crown Court judge Christopher Ball provoked a public outcry when he spared him an immediate jail sentence, despite the fact he admitted to 662 offences.

Instead, he was given a three-year community order, ordered to carry out 150 hours unpaid work, handed the keys to a rent-free flat in Chelmsford and enrolled at college at the taxpayers' expense after convincing the judge he had turned over a new leaf.

But the rehabilitation scheme –

Shadow minister praises town's spirit of generosity

LABOUR'S shadow secretary for environment, food and rural affairs praised the generosity of local residents during a visit to Harlow Foodbank.

Mary Creagh joined the party's prospective parliamentary candidate for Harlow Suzy Stride on a tour of the charity's warehouse in Great Parndon to learn about the group's work providing emergency food to those in need.

"I am really struck by the generosity of the people of Harlow and the dedication of the volunteers at the Foodbank," said Ms Creagh.

"Sadly with the changes in benefits and increasing unemployment rates the need for this type of service is growing. Most worryingly, a third of all people using foodbanks nationwide are children.

"It seems incredibly sad to have children relying on food parcel handouts in this day and age in this country, but fortunately those in a position to help are doing just that which is very uplifting."

Ms Stride added: "Seeing the amount of food donated shows that Harlow is a place with strong community values and a caring spirit.

"It needs to be remembered that we are talking about good people who have fallen on hard times. It is thanks to the fantastic work of places like Harlow Foodbank and the generosity of the community that these people are able to get back up."

Zone roads in line for £3.5m upgrade

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW'S congested road network could be in line for a £3.5m overhaul following the town's successful bid to become one of the UK's flagship Enterprise Zones.

The Star understands the South East Local Enterprise Partnership is poised to hand over the cash to the consortium of public and private sector organisations behind the EZ bid after receiving £32.5m from the Government's Growing Places Fund to deliver its strategic priorities.

According to a funding application submitted to the LEP by Harlow Council, Essex County Council and the West Essex Alliance, the money would be used to upgrade the A414 along Edinburgh Way and provide new access routes to the two Enterprise Zone sites in London Road and Templefields.

If successful, work could start as early as this summer and be complete within a year, with ECC taking primary responsibility for the scheme's delivery in its capacity as highways authority.

Russell Perrin, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for resources, said the consortium behind the plans were acutely aware of the role improved transport links would play in attracting new businesses to the town.

"We are hopeful the South East LEP will recognise the strength of this bid, which we believe is a convincing one," he said.

"The Enterprise Zone is the key to unlocking up to 5,000 new jobs, and a multi-million pound upgrade to the roads around this area will show just how serious Harlow is about business.

"The town is already in a great location, close to the motorway network with a fast rail connection to London and easy access to an airport.

"Harlow Council was key in successfully lobbying to make the A414 a dual carriageway from junction seven of the M11 into Harlow, and making travel around the town itself as easy as possible is the next step in making us a really attractive place to do business."

TV favourite is a hit with the kids

CHILDREN visiting the Asda supermarket in Harlow had a swine time when they found cartoon favourite Peppa Pig hiding in the aisles.

The popular character was paying a special visit to the store in the Water Gardens during half term to meet some of her fans.

According to spokeswoman Rachel Forth, the farmyard favourite proved popular with shoppers young and old.

"It was really good and everyone really loved having Peppa come to visit," she said, "Even the parents enjoyed it!"

"There were lots of pictures taken with some very big smiles and some children even queued up to meet her for a second time!"

Rachel added: "It is really cute to see the children so excited and a really nice treat for half term."

the first of its kind in Essex – backfired less than three months later when Wernham was caught trying to break into a house in Witham.

He was remanded in custody until the subsequent court case in August 2010, at which Judge Ball sentenced him to serve five years behind bars in order "to protect the public".

Jailing him, the judge told Wernham: "I took a deliberate and considered risk but you got a buzz from committing offences and that is the underscoring reason this has failed."

Rare disease has left me in constant pain

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW man suffering from an extremely rare medical condition wants to raise public awareness about it ahead of Rare Disease Day on February 29.

Up until six years ago the only ailment Darren Taylor, of Parsonage Leys, suffered with was mild asthma. But after having an allergic reaction to a steroid injection, the 40-year-old developed a series of problems including Dercum's Disease.

"Dercum's is basically where you develop multiple internal lumps all over your body," said Darren. "Due to the pressure they cause on the body the lumps are extremely painful and can make it very difficult to go about everyday life."

"However, other than surgical removal which is a short-term fix or taking strong painkillers, there is currently no way of treating the condition."

Darren, who has had 73 lumps removed since his diagnosis, said one of the problems is the lack of funding into research to find a cure.

"As far as I know there is no research being conducted into the disease in the UK and only one American doctor who specialises in it," he said.

"Most British doctors won't have even heard of Dercum's. It took a lot of persistence for me to finally have the disease recognised."

"The problem is that with so few people suffering from it they aren't willing to invest any money into research. It is extremely frustrating and I am hoping that by raising awareness I can at least get the NHS to acknowledge the disease."

He added: "The hardest thing about suffering from a rare illness is not having anyone who knows what you are going through to support you."

"Because the lumps are inside, people think I look healthy enough but don't appreciate the constant pain I am in. It can really get you down."

Darren hopes that by speaking publicly about his condition ahead of Rare Disease Day he will be able to focus more attention on it.

"My whole life has been turned upside down since being diagnosed," he said. "I only hope that by supporting Rare Disease Day I can make more people aware of this condition and help them understand the impact it has on people's lives."

● For more information about Dercum's Disease, visit www.dercumsdisease.com. Details of Rare Disease Day can be found at www.rarediseaseday.org.

Memorial walk organisers thrilled by the turnout

MUMS, dads, children, friends and even dogs braved the elements to complete a 5km walk in memory of a popular Harlow teacher.

Organisers of the 5km Kerrie Fitz-John Memorial walk around Harlow Town Park were thrilled when more than 100 people turned up for the fundraising event in aid of breast cancer clinical trials at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital and St Margaret's, Epping. Family and friends of Kerrie, who set up a trust in her name after she died last summer at the age of 36 following a battle with breast and liver cancer, thanked everyone who took part. "We are so appreciative that so many people made the effort, despite the not so favourable icy conditions," said treasurer Marie Shaw. "There were a lot of friends and family of Kerrie's there, but there were also a lot of her former students from St Mark's School and people who were either touched by our story or going through treatment for cancer themselves. "The atmosphere was just lovely and the only complaint we received was that there wasn't any hot chocolate – something we'll certainly take on board for next time!" The walk raised £600 and now the trust is busy planning its next event. "The walk has been a really good start for raising money for the trials which are so important for beating this disease," said Marie.

Shoppers' boost Foodbank stock

GENEROUS residents have been praised by a Harlow charity after donating almost 1.6 tonnes of provisions during a food collection.

Harlow Foodbank, which provides emergency rations to those in need, were amazed when shoppers visiting the Tesco store at Church Langley over the first weekend of February donated 147 boxes of food.

The amount is the best supermarket collection the charity has achieved since its launch in April 2009.

Director of community services Gary Knott said: "Special thanks must go to the staff at Tesco, our wonderful volunteer team – which included students and staff from Passmores Academy and Labour general election candidate Suzy Stride – and to all of the customers who donated."

"The people of Harlow are very generous and we would like to thank them for supporting us with these special collection days, which are essential if we are to continue supporting local people in crisis with emergency food."

Live music finalé after charity quiz

QUIZZERS with a taste for live music can indulge their two passions for a good cause at a charity event next Friday (March 2).

The pub quiz fundraiser has been organised by former Star news editor Mark Fletcher to raise money for the Environmental Investigation Agency, the charity he will be supporting when he runs the London Marathon later this year.

Taking place at the Half Moon pub in Bishop's Stortford, the evening will begin with the quiz before a performance by local bands Goat Patrol and Lovely...But Lethal.

Mark said: "Whether people do both or one or the other, they will have a fantastic evening and be able to feel good about themselves for helping to raise money for a great charity."

The pub quiz begins at 7.30pm with the live music starting at 9pm. Tickets cost £6 (£5 just for the music) in advance or £7 on the door and can be purchased by calling 07817 577492 or by donating directly to Mark's fundraising webpage at site www.justgiving.com/Mark-Fletcher2012.

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, February 17 is ticket holder 491806, who lives in Harlow.

Do it in the dark and make June 16 a night to remember

THE countdown has started to the launch of the 2012 Midnight Walk in aid of St Clare Hospice – and we want Star readers to make this year's fundraiser bigger and better than ever.

In exactly one week's time Harlow will start turning pink when the Star-backed fundraiser is launched in the town centre.

This year's 10km circular walk around Harlow, starting and finishing at The Water Gardens, takes place on Saturday, June 16. Organisers are hoping at least 1,350 people will sign up to "do it in the dark" and raise £90,000 to fund the care the hospice provides.

Tracy Stratford, events fundraiser for St Clare, said: "The Midnight Walk is such a fun event, with people of all ages dressing up in the infamous pink flashing bunny ears and walking round

Midnight Walk

Harlow to the sound of drivers beeping their car horns in support.

"It's a great night out with the girls but whilst taking part, people are raising valuable funds for the hospice. The £90,000 which we hope to raise this year could provide three whole weeks of care for eight patients in our inpatient unit."

One of those who will be signing up when registration opens next Thursday is Beckie Street (23), from Sheering, who took part in last year's walk and raised more than £800.

Beckie's mother was cared for at the hospice before she passed away from leukaemia in October 2010.

"St Clare Hospice was amazing in caring for my mum throughout the two weeks she was there," she said. "And they didn't only support my mum, they also supported me and my family."

"After mum passed away the support didn't stop and it still hasn't. They offer amazing counselling sessions which really help me and support me with the grief of losing my mum."

"I honestly cannot thank them enough for making my mum's final weeks the most comfortable and well respected as possible. I will never forget the care she received."

She added: "My mum was the most amazing woman, she was so strong and brave. She taught me the rights and wrongs in life and I know being part of the Midnight Walk and supporting the hospice would have made her very proud of me."

Entry opens next Thursday (March 1) at 9am. Registration usually costs £15 per person but during March walkers can take advantage of a special '2 for £20' promotion, so find a friend to join you and sign up before March 31.

To register, call the hospice fundraising team on 01279 773750, email fund@stclarehospice.org.uk to be sent a registration form or visit www.stclarehospice.org.uk/midnight.

● Over the next few weeks the Star will be featuring updates on the preparations for this year's Walk as well as stories from some of those who will be taking part.

Staff fury at break up of printing firm

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

SCORES of furious workers face a fight for unpaid wages following the sudden closure of a Harlow printing company.

More than 40 staff at Blue Printing Group in Templefields were sent home on January 31 after company bosses told them they could no longer afford to pay their wages.

The firm officially went into administration this week and the delay has left employees, who have not been paid since December, unable to claim redundancy or unpaid wages.

It also remains unclear whether Blue Group, which had an annual turnover of £16m, had been making national insurance contributions on behalf of their workers.

Some staff have been unable to claim Jobseeker's Allowance as a result and the problem has been acknowledged by the company's administrators, Harrisons.

One employee, who asked not to be named, said staff had been told a dispute with the previous owner of a business recently acquired by the company had resulted in assets being frozen.

"We were all called to a meeting on January 31 and told that some kind of dispute had led to a cashflow problem," she said. "We were told not to worry, that all wages would be paid and that machinery was being sold off to cover the costs, but nothing has ever materialised."

Another employee said she was owed over £1,000. "For some people this was their only source of income and they have literally just been left high and dry," she said. "They may have finally gone into administration but it could take weeks or even months for us to receive any money."

"It is absolutely disgusting that they are getting away with treating people like this while being allowed to continue trading elsewhere."

The printing firm cut a total of 160 jobs across its three plants, with both Harlow and Mitcham going into administration. However, the firm's site at Shoeburyness has continued to trade under the name of Essex Web Offset.

Tony Murphy from administrators Harrisons said the case was being treated as a "break-up" situation. "Unfortunately there are no buyers for the business so it is a break-up only situation where the sites will be closed," he said.

"Around 160 employees have now gone and we are in the process of writing to them regarding redundancy."

Shauna's clock tower design is chosen for 65th anniversary logo

THE winning entry in a Star-backed competition to design the official logo for Harlow's 65th birthday celebrations has been unveiled.

The drawing by 16-year-old Shauna Paul of Upper Park, depicts the town's landmark clock tower with the hands pointing to '6' and '5' in recognition of the anniversary.

Her design will now be used on council posters, leaflets, brochures, letterheads and the internet.

Shauna also won a family ticket to see this Easter's production of Rapunzel at Harlow Playhouse.

Harlow Council chairman Michael Garnett said: "We received more than 40 entries for this competition and I was struck by the imagination and creativity the young people showed in their entries."

"It was a tough call, but we decided Shauna's work was clever, concise and captured the key message of the 65th by using an identifiable local landmark. "The 65th anniversary of the New Town is a great occasion for Harlow people to celebrate their history and an exciting future, and Shauna's logo will help us to do that."

Chance to view West Sumners housing options

RESIDENTS can find out more about plans to build up to 1,200 new homes on land west of Harlow at two public consultation events next week.

Outline proposals for the West Sumners project will be on display at Sumners Leisure Centre from 6pm-9.30pm on Friday, March 2 and from 10am-6pm on Saturday, March 3.

The drop-in sessions will give residents the chance to learn more about the proposed development and voice any concerns they have with the plans.

Sarah Conlan from developers Crest Nicholson said: "We want people from Broadley Common and Sumners to look at the proposals and options before making up their minds.

"Their comments and ideas will be taken into account," she said. "This is not a planning application; it is work in progress."

Your rights as a co-habitee following the breakdown of a relationship

THE law about housing rights and relationship breakdown is complex. This article covers some of the rights of co-habiting couples living in rented property but does not cover relationship breakdown caused by domestic violence.

Married couples and couples in civil partnerships normally have more rights than co-habitees.

If you are having relationship problems and your co-habiting partner asks you to move out, there are both short and long-term measures you can take to resolve your housing problems. Seek advice from a specialist adviser or solicitor before making any decisions.

If you are living in rented accommodation and your partner is the sole tenant, you are probably a licensee who is entitled to remain only as long as the tenant gives permission. If your partner, who is the sole tenant, asks you to move out, you may have a short-term solution to remain in the property by applying for an Occupation Order.

Usually an Occupation Order will allow you to remain in the property for about six months and it can be renewed for a further six months. There are several circumstances, which the court must take into consideration prior to making an Occupation Order.

Your long-term housing options include renting another property in the private sector and registering on the council's choice-based letting scheme. However, if you have a child who resides with you in your partner's sole tenancy, you can ask the court to transfer the tenancy into your name.

If your name is on the tenancy as a joint tenant then you have property rights and you should continue to reside in the property even if your partner asks you to move out. You can ask the court to transfer the tenancy into your sole name.

You will also need to be aware that if, prior to your application to the court for the transfer of the tenancy, your partner gives the landlord a notice to quit, then this effectively ends the tenancy for you and your partner.

To prevent your partner from giving the landlord a notice to quit, you can apply for an injunction at the county court forbidding him or her from doing so.

Repairs 'app' for council tenants to report a fault

COUNCIL tenants can now report problems with their property at the click of a button following the launch of a new smartphone app. Available for Android, iPhone and Blackberry phones, it has been developed by Kier Harlow with input from Harlow Council and local tenant representatives and allows users to instantly report repairs directly to Kier's call centre. A camera function means photos of the fault can also be uploaded, helping customer service representatives to assess each problem more accurately. Jackie Ducker, Kier's strategic business improvement director, said: "We aim to be as accessible as possible and have developed the repairs app as an additional, free service working alongside existing methods to make Kier even more accessible and increase choice for our customers." Clive Souter, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for housing, added: "We've worked with tenants and Kier during the testing phase to ensure the app is simple and effective. "Of course tenants can still talk to us about repairs by phone or by calling in, but I'm confident more and more will opt for the convenience of smartphones to sort out repairs and maintenance." Pictured at the launch are, left to right, Brenda Nichols, Cllr Simon Carter, Jane Steer, Cllr Souter and Jackie Ducker. ● For more information and to download the app, visit www.kier.co.uk/repairsapp.

A TEACHER fighting for equal rights between separated parents is urging more people to back his online campaign.

An e-petition started by Colin Riches – who has taught science at both Passmores and Burnt Mill schools – on the Government's website has so far received over 750 signatures.

Father-of-one Mr Riches, of Temple Meads, Roydon, argues that the law should protect children's relationships with both parents and needs to show children that both their parents are treated equally.

He started his campaign in protest at a court's decision to restrict access to his young daughter, now aged three, after he split up with his partner.

This week he said he was determined to keep fighting until the petition gains the 100,000 signatures needed for a debate in the House of Commons.

"Things are simply not right at the moment," said Mr Riches. "When there is a relationship break-up children are still usually put with the mother and then it is up to the father to prove he is a fit parent and fight for any access, let alone equal."

"We are essentially considered guilty until proven innocent which is not fair on either the dad or the children."

Having already received the support of several MPs including Harlow MP Robert Halfon, Mr Riches is making a renewed appeal to the public to help him get the system changed.

"For so many years women quite rightly fought for equal rights but now it seems it is the men's turn," he said. "It is long overdue for fathers to have equal rights to their children unless there is good reason not to and I am urging as many people as possible to support this campaign."

By VICKY LANE

"Kids need their father in their lives as much as their mother and we should by now have a family law system that supports this."

Mr Halfon, who referred to Mr Riches' case during a House of Commons debate, said: "It is clear that there is a strong argument for the law to be changed."

The e-petition, called 'Support the best policy for children; give both parents equality' can be accessed at www.e-petitions.direct.gov.uk/petitions/23102.

COLIN RICHES: 'It is long overdue for fathers to have equal rights to their children'

Police blast M11 drivers for stopping on hard shoulder

DRIVERS have been reminded of the dangers of using the motorway hard shoulder following two crashes on the M11.

Three people were taken to hospital after a total of nine vehicles were involved in separate pile-ups within 15 minutes of each other on the motorway north of Bishop's Stortford last Wednesday.

Both carriageways were closed for several hours while the emergency services were on the scene.

But police driving to the crashes said they were hindered by lorry drivers taking their breaks, car drivers parking on the hard shoulder to take a rest and people who had stopped to exercise their dogs.

Sergeant Colin Shead said: "There was one boy whose grandmother was stuck in the traffic so she allowed him to go out onto the hard shoulder."

"I'm surprised we didn't end up dealing with a fatal crash while attending the original collision. Someone will get killed if drivers continue to act in such mindless ways."

Sergeant Shead also stressed the importance of sticking to the speed limits displayed on matrix signs.

"If the signs tell you to drive at 50mph it is for a reason," he said. "It's certainly not an indication for you to drive at 100mph and narrowly avoid hitting police officers in the carriage-way."

Firefighters rescue man from flat blaze

FIREFIGHTERS rescued a man from his burning flat after a neighbour raised the alarm.

Two appliances were sent to The Hides, Harlow, on Friday evening in response to a report that smoke was coming from the kitchen. However, a third crew was sent for when it was thought there may be people inside.

The 59-year-old man was brought out suffering from smoke inhalation and left in the care of paramedics.

I punched my PE teacher when I saw a VW Beetle

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AN innocent playground game backfired for one former Brays Grove School pupil when she ended up punching a teacher by mistake.

Following last week's article about the mischievous classroom antics of some Nostalgia readers, Tracy Neville was the first to come clean about her own school misdemeanour.

"It was back in the 1970s when the Herbie films had just come out," said Tracy, of Bush Fair. "Me and a group of friends had cottoned on to this game where if you saw a Volkswagen Beetle you had to be the first to punch your friend and shout 'punch car Herbie, no returns'.

"This was all very well until one day when I was walking next to my PE teacher from the school changing rooms to the playing field. Our art teacher had a VW Beetle parked in the car park which we passed and, forgetting who I was with, I instantly punched my teacher.

"Horried at what I had done I just ran off but, of course, being a PE teacher it wasn't very hard for her to catch me!

"As a punishment I first had to go to lunch with her which was really embarrassing, and then she told me to go home and write two sides of paper on why I must not hit teachers.

"I was really annoyed by this point so I decided to get the smallest piece of paper I could find, which was about four inches high, and as requested filled both sides. It took all of five minutes.

"The next day I presented her with my work saying 'you never told me how the big the paper had to be'. Fortunately she seemed to find my impertinence quite amusing and just ordered me to leave."

Tracy, who now has a daughter herself, said she

managed to hide the incident from her parents . . . until now

"I only just told my mother the other day and she was shocked," she said.

"It is all very funny now but I can't help but think of how furious I'd be if I ever heard that my daughter had punched a teacher."

1987 25 years ago in the Harlow Star

☛ Poachers are killing the deer in Latton Wood between Harlow and Epping and selling the carcasses for venison. Police believe they have a ready market for the gourmet meat via the back door of butchers' shops, hotels and restaurants.

☛ A security guard carried a suspect bomb out of the Harvey Centre on Monday after discovering the package near shops. The box, which had wires coming from it, was later found to contain a stone and some plasticine. Police later received a call from a man who said "Sorry to disappoint you but next time it may be for real."

☛ A gang of children stole hundreds of pounds from a 71-year-old widow after tricking their way into her home. The young thieves claimed they were giving away free goods to pensioners.

☛ A woman's cries alerted a motorist who was about to drive off unaware that his car was on fire! The woman noticed the flames coming from the front grille of the car when it was parked outside the bus garage in First Avenue.

HERE'S another photograph of workers from the Key Glass factory in Harlow enjoying themselves on a day out. It was sent in by Nostalgia reader Alan Hawkins, whose late mother Edith appeared in a previous picture of women from the factory wearing 'kiss me quick' hats during a trip to the coast. Alan, of St Michael's Close, Harlow, said his brother

Clive found this photograph stored away in the loft of his home in Long Ley, Harlow. "We think this picture must have been later than the other shot as mum looks older, but we aren't sure of the exact date," said Alan. "I'm also not sure where they are but I don't think it was a trip to Southend this time. "Mum is standing in the middle and we are pretty sure our dad, Harry, should be in there somewhere but we can't find him. Perhaps he was in the coach." Alan, who worked at Key Glass alongside his mum and dad as a cabinet maker for seven years, said the annual work trips could vary greatly. "I'm sure this one was quite tame, though the ones I used to go on with the boys when I was young were quite a different story," he said. "They were more of a pub crawl than an excursion! There certainly weren't any photos taken on those trips!"

We're getting a taste for leftovers

SHOPPERS were given a taste of what can be cooked up using leftover food when a celebrity chef set up stall in the Water Gardens on Friday.

As part of Essex County Council's 'Love Food Hate Waste' campaign, chef Richard Fox demonstrated how simple it is to create delicious dishes from leftover food.

The roadshow, which is on a countywide tour, aims to raise awareness about reducing the 7.2 million tonnes of food wasted in the UK every year. "The roadshow has gone really well," Richard told the Star. "People have been really interested and most importantly are going away inspired."

"Our aim is to show people ways of making food last longer whilst demonstrating the principle of recipe-free cooking where you just take all the food you have leftover in your fridge and cupboards and bring it together to create something delicious."

He added: "At a time when saving money is so important, I think our message is really being taken on board."

Reform 'will deny justice to hundreds'

HUNDREDS of victims of clinical negligence could be denied justice if the Government presses ahead with its controversial plans to slash legal aid funding, a Harlow law firm has warned.

Attwaters, based in West Gate, claims the shake-up will leave vulnerable claimants without recourse to the law as solicitors would be less likely to take on cases on a no-win, no-fee basis because of proposed new restrictions on their success fees.

Clinical negligence expert David Kerry, a partner in the firm, said ministers needed to rethink the plans.

"We and many firms around the country are concerned that withdrawal of Legal Aid from clinical negligence claimants will deny justice to people who have suffered pain and financial loss through instances of negligence by medical professionals," he said.

"For many the only option will be a no win, no fee case with new restrictions on solicitors' success fees.

"The result may be reluctance by some solicitors to accept complex cases, in effect leaving vulnerable people without recourse to the law.

"This could, for example, leave the parents of babies permanently brain-damaged at birth without financial support to meet the child's needs over a lifetime."

Mr Kerry said any savings made through the changes could be wiped out by additional claim investigation costs for the NHS.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who has met with Attwaters staff to discuss the planned changes, said he shared their concerns and pledged to put pressure on Justice Minister Jonathan Djanogly to make concessions in the Legal Aid Bill currently being steered through Parliament.

"I have actively pressured the Government in respect of the proposed changes for clinical negligence cases, both on the floor of the chamber and in letters, conversations and at meetings," he said.

"I will continue to work hard to try to make sure the Government makes some concessions, particularly where children are concerned."

DAVID KERRY: Vulnerable people may be left without recourse to the law

Neighbourhood used as free car park

Harlow Council needs to sort the parking issues out as many areas in Harlow are being used as car parks as people don't want to pay parking costs. ms

Parking in Harlow is a fiasco at the moment. Our road (Canons Gate) has had the double yellow lines reinstated after more than 10 years and now our grass area is like a car park as we have no where else to park without having to walk quite a distance (not safe in this day and age). Kirsten

Fury at allotments crimewave

We see yet again hardworking people who enjoy a productive pastime being subjected to the vandalism and theft of these mindless 'zombies' that walk the streets. They were probably brought up with no respect for anyone or anything and thought all this is good for a laugh. Well no-one who is a victim thinks it's funny! PB

Tenants hit with 7.3% rent hike

It's ok for people who don't work and claim housing benefit and don't have to pay rent as they are on benefits but for the people who work and don't claim benefit it's unfair as we have to pay full rent and like most of us we struggle in times like these. Emma

Well what a surprise, another inflation-busting rent increase! This is a real kick in the teeth for council tenants who pay their rent. I thought the purpose of social housing was to help lower paid workers afford somewhere to live. Steve

'One-man crimewave' released

It's so annoying for police who spend huge amounts of time and manpower working to lock up repeat offenders like this, only to see them get ridiculous sentences or most of the time none at all. CPS and the judicial system have no clue whatsoever. not surprised

No justification for rent increases on this scale

SIR, Here we were thinking we were going to have a few pounds extra in our pensions to go towards all the increasing prices, but I guess it was wishful thinking.

Harlow Council has decided its need is greater than ours and is increasing our rents by £6 per week.

Here on The Briars we are living in limbo, waiting for information about the demolition of our estate so our extra rent will not go towards improvements where we live. For example, our double glazing units have failed but the council has constantly refused to repair or replace them.

I think a rent increase of this magnitude, taking into the account the current economic climate and the fact that we are living in homes effectively condemned, is unjustifiable.

William Preston
The Briars, Harlow

At last we've got the council we deserve

SIR, I am delighted that, at long last, we have a council which reflects the beliefs of most homeowners.

The main political parties have long disregarded the temptation to raise more money by increasing our rates and, although it would make little difference to us, they have proudly competed in keeping the rates as low as possible.

By opposing planning permission for a large development of building in Gilden Way, they have protected our hedgerows and environment and, more importantly, the value of our homes. At the same time, by offering garage sites with planning permission they are taking the sensible decision to allow developers to erect social housing

Fundamental change to council's housing policy

SIR, The current debates surrounding council housing in Harlow and the future of important local services such as Harlow Museum, Pets' Corner and the Parndon Wood Nature Reserve are polarised but they are not mutually exclusive.

The concept of providing local authority social housing in Harlow has played a major and very proud role in the lives of residents over many decades. However, under current proposals, Harlow Council wants to create at least two levels of council housing tenure: secure tenancies and fixed-term tenancies of five years or less.

This fixed-term tenancy option, together with the lack of affordable council housing, will undoubtedly affect and restrict the younger generation's opportunities to set up their family homes in Harlow. Do the residents of Harlow want this fundamental change to council housing policy?

Unfortunately, due to strict timeframes set up by the Government under the Localism Act, the council has to produce a formal tenancy strategy policy document by early next year, with a formal draft document by this July – giving residents no opportunity to be consulted on these changes to council housing policy.

In my view the council should abide by the housing options appraisal result in 2003 where tenants decided overwhelmingly that there should be no ideological change to council housing policy in Harlow, thereby giving the young the same opportunities of securing affordable council housing that I was afforded some 26 years ago.

The provision of local amenities such as the museum, Pets' Corner and Parndon Wood Nature Reserve are, and should remain, important and valued resident services provided by council. It claims it has no money to support these services and the involvement of voluntary and private sector organisations would improve and develop them, but I have not seen any conclusive evidence to support that view.

Would the position be radically changed if the council had not decided to write off for the current financial year £130,000 in rent arrears while also increasing the average rent by 7.3 per cent as well as £209,000 in council tax arrears? The answer is no.

Gary Roberts

without a problem.

By increasing rents, they have cleverly used Government guidance to ensure that people who lack either the guts or the will to buy their own home will have to pay closer to the market price for their lack of ambition.

At last things in Harlow are now being properly managed and we have the council we deserve.

Ian Kennett
Felmongers, Harlow

Authorities should take note of our comments

SIR, I have to agree with the letters from S.G. Brannon and Laura Charlton regarding the pedestrian crossings near The Phoenix and Church Langley (Star, February 9 & 16) and also John Curry's letter about litter (February 16).

On a more positive note I must praise the new junction by the Park Inn. I have been driving in this town for almost 10 years and have seen a definite improvement in congestion in this area. The traffic seems to flow much better now.

I wonder if somebody actually took the time to drive around Harlow before the plans were finalised? I am sad to say that this does not seem the case with most of the crossings and roundabouts in Harlow.

The roads, paths and cyclepaths will only deteriorate as the town gets larger. Surely as residents, pedestrians and motorists our comments and suggestions matter?

Jade Gillespie
address supplied - Editor

Who gave approval to this act of vandalism?

SIR, This is a warning to residents of Church Langley – tree and hedge vandals are on the loose.

After consultation with the council, the green at Fenton Grange was at great expense carefully planted up with specialist and carefully chosen perimeter hedges, trees and a central shrubbery.

This planting scheme was agreed with the residents and over the last 18 months or so has reached a very beautiful and satisfactory maturity.

The perimeter hedge functioned as a barrier to prevent young children running into the road on a bend where cars travel too fast. It also was aesthetically pleasing, provided refuge and nesting site for birds and screened the road from the green.

Being on the outside of a concave bend, the perimeter hedge in no way restricted the view of the roadway to left or right. That's done by the odd cars or van parked on the bend on the pavement, which neither police or council seems willing to do anything about.

After many years of careful tending vandals are, as I write, needlessly attacking the perimeter hedge and have decimated it to ground level. It seems the culprits are a white van man with signage saying Kier on the side: surely they can't be from the council as the council would surely consult with the residents before such major surgery.

The hedge only needed the regular spring level of maintenance and only a reckless person would authorise the vastly multiplied amount of time and labour on major vandalism over the few minutes it would have taken to trim the hedges.

Perhaps the council should act to curb excessive spending and out of control zeal and actually talk to residents before acting on a walkabout initiated by councillors. After all, they are meant to represent us with reasonable consultation and it is our money they are spending.

I suggest other residents should look out for these reckless vandals and bring their controllers to book.

E. Vine

Immigrants do the jobs our youngsters refuse

SIR, I was interested that June Dewey thinks that eastern European immigrants are taking all the jobs from young people (Letters, February 9).

My experience of these immigrants is that they work long, unsociable hours in jobs that local people wouldn't do and then spend the evening trying to improve their English which is already a lot better than many of our young people leaving school. They also often fill vacancies which are sometimes impossible to recruit locally, such as care homes.

As for our young people, some of them can't even get out of bed to get themselves into college, let alone a job. Blanket statements about all immigrants do nothing to foster good relationships in the community.

Show more compassion to those with no home

SIR, I have been on the council housing waiting list for years and, like thousands of others, I am still waiting.

After reading the story about the people opposing the West Sumners project (Star, February 9), it seems the only people opposing plans to build new homes for people like myself are the ones who have never suffered not having a place to live. Once again it's all about the rich getting richer and not caring about anyone else.

They just don't want the poorer classes to be housed and they use the excuse of the importance of green issues. I don't drive, I cycle everywhere but I bet they don't. They drive cars and consume more than most people, which is not 'green' either.

The foxes and wildlife will find other places to reside; there is acres of greenery here for them. If the richer classes who really dislike the homeless want to be as 'green' as they say they are, they can go and rescue the foxes before the site is developed.

What we need here is more compassion for people who don't have their own homes to live in. I say we build to house the rising levels of homeless people in the town. There will be a protest if this does not happen as they have already stopped the building on Gilden Way.

I am not living in this town where I was born any longer without a home to live in. I simply will protest, along with many other angry homeless people, if the council does not house us. No-one will be able stop us.

Mammogram revealed I had breast cancer

SIR, Don't women realise how important the breast screening programme is? ("Four in 10 women miss appointments for breast screening", February 16).

I am one of the 33 ladies diagnosed with early stages of cancer and if it wasn't for the mammogram I had I wouldn't have known as I didn't have any lumps.

So come on ladies, 10 minutes out of your day could save your life.

Business booms for blaze-hit auto firm

A SUCCESSFUL fast-fit garage chain has expanded its network of autocentres by opening a new branch in Harlow – just one year after a devastating fire threatened to put the brakes on trade for good.

Mr Unique's flagship tyre and exhaust centre in Cheshunt was all but destroyed in a ferocious blaze last March, leaving manager Steve Martorana fearing the worst for his family-run firm.

But 12 months of hard graft later, business is booming once again and Steve – who used to run Xtreme Motorsport in Crown Gate – is celebrating the opening of a new centre in Wych Elm.

"The fire was obviously a huge blow," he told the Star this week. "To see something you've worked so hard for literally go up in smoke is very difficult to take."

"But we've not let it hold us back and I'm really pleased to see the Harlow workshop up-and-running now. It is something we've been looking to do for some time."

"With all the doom-and-gloom surrounding the economy some people might think we're mad to be expanding our business now but it makes perfect sense to us. We've got 32 years' experience behind us and we're confident we can make a real success of the Harlow centre."

Billed as a one-stop-shop for motorists looking to repair, maintain and fine-tune their vehicles, the centre offers competitively-priced servicing, diagnostics, tyres, exhausts and MOTs, with the new workshop fully kitted out with the latest equipment.

"We pride ourselves on the fact that we can cater for almost anything through our network of garages," said Steve.

"Whether it's a full service, new set of tyres or even a spot of welding you need doing, we can do it all at a price that won't break the bank."

Mr Unique is running a 10 per cent discount offer to Star readers throughout March. Simply take a copy of the firm's advertisement in this paper into the centre to qualify for your discount.

BUSINESS BRIEFING

By Ian Hudson
General Manager
Harlow & District
Chamber of Commerce

HARLOW & District Chamber of Commerce does not share the pessimistic view that many people have about the economic climate. Many of our members are doing very well.

Chairman Vance Rowe's air conditioning business - Cyclone Commerce - has taken orders representing 50 per cent of last year's turnover in the first two months of 2012. They will be looking for plumbing and air conditioning sub-contractors in March.

Easykey Ltd, the chamber's website developer, is also doing well. After being asked to re-design the chamber's website at the end of last year, they also won the contract to build the new site for the South East Local Enterprise Partnership.

And three of our members have 'significant' anniversaries this year:

● Enliten IT is 10 years old. The company specialises in the provision of customised IT training solutions and consultancy services. Owne, Marko Jergic said: "This year will be our best ever and we thank all our clients for our success."

● Sowerby Group, the organiser of this year's Harlow Business Exhibition, is 20 years old. As a leading creative design, marketing, advertising and events agency, it plans to expand during 2012 and hopes to be making an announcement soon about a high-profile new client.

● Funeral directors Daniel Robinson is celebrating its 120th year. This family-run business is proud of its achievements over the years, most recently being named Regional Funeral Planner of the Year by Golden Charter, the UK's largest independent funeral planning company, and achieving silver status with the Investors in People scheme. With this in mind it hopes to be going for gold in 2012.

Harlow & District Chamber of Commerce exists to help our members grow and we encourage everyone to do business locally wherever possible.

In addition to our monthly meetings, we run special events including business briefings, workshops and conferences. As July 27 approaches, we will be helping our members make the most of pre-Olympics publicity opportunities.

● To find out more about Harlow & District Chamber of Commerce, visit www.harlowchamber.co.uk or call Ian Hudson on (01279) 271104.

Lettings agency launches with cracking giveaway

A NEW residential lettings agency is giving 200 Harlow households the chance to win £200.

To celebrate the official launch of Essex Lettings in West Gate, owners Stuart Clarke and Byron Fry, pictured right, are running a 'codes for cash' scheme across the town.

The brothers-in-law will be posting codes through 200 letterboxes in the area, inviting lucky recipients to visit the office to see if their unique number opens a digital safe containing the prize.

"It's a very simple scheme to celebrate our opening and help people in Harlow know we exist," explained

Stuart.

"You don't have to be a client to win, you just need the opening code. There are no strings attached."

With more than 20 years of estate agency experience between them, Stuart said they have high hopes for their latest venture.

"We would encourage anyone looking for a property or who owns a property they would like to let to see what we can do for you," he added.

For more information visit the firm's website at www.essexlettings.com or call (01279) 422100.

Fair to offer advice on flexible working

WOULD-be entrepreneurs and those looking to juggle part-time work with other commitments can learn more about flexible working at a recruitment fair in Harlow next week.

The free event at the Park Inn Hotel on Thursday will give jobseekers the chance to meet representatives from local employers, franchisors, training companies, colleges, professional business advisors and networking groups.

Expert practical help will also be offered at free CV and start-up business workshops scheduled to run throughout the day.

Organiser Karyn Slyfield, director of successful web-based recruitment firm Working Jobs From Home, said: "The fair will enable jobseekers and providers to meet face-to-face and learn more about each other in an informal and friendly atmosphere.

"This could appeal particularly to stay-at-home parents, students, graduates, people wanting to supplement their pensions, those facing redundancy and others looking to boost their income or start their own business."

For more information about the fair, which runs from 10am-4pm, call Karyn on 07984 593812 or visit www.workingjobsfromhome.co.uk.

WIN pair of tickets to One Man, Two Guvnors

Following sell-out seasons at the National Theatre and Adelphi Theatre, the five-star comedy One Man, Two Guvnors opens at Theatre Royal Haymarket on March 2.

This week we are giving you the chance to win one of five pairs of tickets to this award-winning play which is a unique, laugh-out-loud mix of satire, songs, slapstick and glittering one-liners. Fired from his skiffle band, Francis Henshall becomes minder to Roscoe Crabbe, a small time East End hood who is now in Brighton to collect £6,000 from his fiancée's dad. But Roscoe is really his sister Rachel posing as her own dead brother, who has been killed by her boyfriend Stanley Stubbers. Holed up at The Cricketers Arms, the permanently ravenous Francis spots the chance of an extra meal ticket and takes a second job with Stanley, who is hiding from the police and waiting to be re-united with Rachel.

To prevent discovery, Francis must keep his two guvnors apart. Simple. In One Man, Two Guvnors sex, food and money are high on the agenda.

For a chance to win a pair of tickets, answer the question on the competition coupon and return it to: One Man, Two Guvnors Competition, Harlow Star, PO Box 268, Cambridge, CB24 6HF by Wednesday, February 29. Alternatively you can enter via our dedicated competition link at www.harlowstar.co.uk. Be sure to enter 'One Man, Two Guvnors' in the competition line or your entry will be discounted.

Terms & Conditions

Winners' tickets are valid for Monday-Thursday performances until March 29, 2012, subject to availability. The promoter reserves the right to substitute prize for that of an equal or greater value if necessary. All transportation is responsibility of the prizewinners.

Cute chameleon

EAGLE-eyed researchers believe they may have discovered the world's smallest chameleon while exploring a remote island off the coast of east Africa.

The tiny lizard - named Brookesia micra - is so small it can stand on a match head!

It is one of four new species spotted by a team of German scientists conducting field research in Madagascar.

They went out late at night with torches and headlamps to search for the unusual creatures, which hide under leaves during the day and climb up trees when it gets dark.

Team leader Dr Frank Glaw told reporters that the dwarf reptile, which only grows to a maximum length of 3cm, may have evolved to be so little because of the limited space on its island habitat.

"It is possible that the big island of Madagascar has produced the general group of dwarf chameleons and the very small island has produced the tiny species," he said.

"They mostly live in the leaf litter in the day, but at night they climb up and then you can spot them."

The researchers are now calling for more conservation work to be carried out to help the species survive, which they say are threatened by trees being cut down.

Gallery hosts exhibition of youngsters' Games-themed works

BUDDING young artists from schools across Harlow have warmed up for this summer's Olympics by creating artwork for a new Games-themed exhibition at the Gibberd Gallery.

Harlow Get Set features a diverse range of sports-inspired works by pupils and students from the town's primary and secondary schools, academies and Harlow College, with everything from paintings to sculptures on display at the gallery in the Civic Centre.

A council spokesman said: "The gallery is home to some truly stunning artwork by Harlow's ever-talented students.

"The young artists have been inspired by the London Games to create some truly fantastic works of art and to show once again how talented our community is."

The exhibition is on now and runs until April 20. The gallery is open between 9am and 4.45pm from Monday to Friday and admission is free.

Festival gives trio the first chance to direct

THREE is the magic number for a Harlow am-dram group staging its annual One-Act Play Festival at Victoria Hall Theatre next week.

Harlow Theatre Company's feast of mirth and melodrama will see three first-time directors cutting their teeth on a trio of short plays exploring the complexities of human relationships.

Opening the triple bill is Geraldine Aron's Bar & Ger, a tender story of the lifetime bond between a brother and sister cleverly told in flashes of episodic dialogue linked by an overarching narrative.

Director Martin Colton said his debut would be "challenging yet rewarding".

"I've acted for around 10 years now but have always wanted to try my hand at directing," he said. "I'm grateful that HTC have now given me the opportunity.

"Bar & Ger is a play that I've performed in before and it really inspired me as an actor. There are just two characters and the way in which the narrative is structured makes each part very challenging to play.

"But the fact my cast, one of whom is my partner and the other a good friend, grew up together means the on-stage relationship came very naturally to them so I'm confident we can pull it off".

The programme continues with Wanda's Visit, the hilarious tale of a married couple whose flatlining marriage is shaken up by the sudden appearance of the husband's eccentric ex-girlfriend. Dolleen Howlett, who will also be sitting in the director's chair, said she was confident Christopher Durang's one-act comedy would have audiences in hysterics.

By CHRIS MOSS

"Of course there's always that nagging worry at the back of your mind that no-one else will find the play funny, but we've been in tears of laughter during rehearsals so I'm pretty sure it will appeal to anyone with a sense of humour," she said.

"I took a bit of convincing to take the step up to directing for the first time, but HTC have been really supportive and now I can't wait for opening night!"

Completing the festival is Gavin Williams' directorial debut A Talk In The Park, a beautifully-observed comedy based around the bizarre conversations between strangers sharing a park bench penned by master satirist Alan Ayckbourn.

The festival opens at the theatre on Bury Road, Old Harlow next Thursday (March 1) and runs for three consecutive nights.

Performances begin at 8pm and tickets cost £10 (£8 concessions) from 01279 420062 or online at www.victoriahalltheatre.co.uk.

Gentle comedy is well worth a 5-star rating

THE BEST EXOTIC MARIGOLD HOTEL certificate 12A, 2h03m

ADAPTED from Deborah Moggach's novel These Foolish Things, The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel is a hilarious and touching comedy about growing old disgracefully.

Ol Parker's warm and witty script provides the predominantly British cast with moments to shine and tug our heartstrings while director John Madden captures a different side to life in modern India than the poverty and crime of Slumdog Millionaire.

Evelyn Dame (Dame Judi Dench) has recently lost her husband and is coming to terms with solitude in her twilight years. Determined to start anew, she abandons Britain for the balmy climes of Jaipur and a grand retirement home called The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel.

En route Evelyn meets six other retirees all bound for this "luxury development for residents in their golden years" – cantankerous wheelchair user Muriel (Dame Maggie Smith) who is bypassing the NHS waiting list to undergo a hip replacement abroad, waspish snob Jean (Penelope Wilton) and her long-suffering husband Douglas (Bill Nighy), retired judge Graham (Tom Wilkinson), incorrigible ladies' man Norman (Ronald Pickup) and love-hungry spinster Madge (Celia Imrie). When the exhausted travellers arrive at their destination they discover a building in disrepair and inexperienced manager Sonny (Dev Patel) struggling to keep the creditors off his back.

The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel is a delight, milking laughter and tears as characters reach crossroads in their lives. Like The King's Speech, it's a film with appeal across the generations, tapping into universal fears of being forgotten in old age.

Performances are an embarrassment of riches. Dame Maggie is in imperious form as a xenophobic working class battleaxe, who shuns Indian food in favour of packets of chocolate biscuits because "I don't eat anything I can't pronounce."

Dame Judi Dench is the emotional heart, narrating drolly in voiceover while Wilkinson delivers a beautifully nuanced performance as a man with heartbreaking ties to India.

Wilton is excellent as the well-to-do wife who constantly belittles her husband, telling him, "When I want your opinion I'll give it to you," while Imrie and Pickup are delicious comic relief.

SAFE HOUSE certificate 12A, 1h55m

AGENT Matt Weston (Ryan Reynolds) is caretaker of a CIA safe house in Johannesburg.

Humdrum routine is thrown into disarray by the arrival of grizzled agent Daniel Kiefer (Robert Patrick) with a prisoner: rogue operative Tobin Frost (Denzel Washington) who famously sold out the agency to the highest bidder.

In the middle of a highly charged interrogation, the building's defences are compromised by a gang of gun-toting thugs led by Vargas (Fares Fares).

Matt escapes the hail of bullets with Tobin, bundling the prisoner into the boot of a car as he makes a hasty exit, alerting his boss David Barlow (Brendan Gleeson) and senior agent Catherine Linklater (Vera Farmiga) to the clear and present danger as a protracted game of cat and mouse begins through the streets of South Africa.

ONE FOR THE MONEY certificate 12A, 1h31m

BASED on the best-selling novel by Janet Evanovich, One For The Money is a fast-paced comedy about a young woman forced to re-evaluate her life to make ends meet.

Times are tough for Stephanie Plum (Katherine Heigl); she is out of work and out of luck, with no end in sight to her misery. So Stephanie turns in desperation to her shady cousin Vinnie (Patrick Fischler) who runs his own company, Vinnie's Bail Bonds.

Without any training or obvious skills, Stephanie goes to work for Vinnie, chasing down men and women who have skipped bail. She begins with her high school old flame Joe Morelli (Jason O'Mara), a former vice cop who is now wanted for murder.

Aided by the enigmatic Ranger (Daniel Sunjata), who teaches her the basics of bounty hunting, Stephanie closes in on her prey but when she finally catches up with Joe she questions if he is truly guilty of the heinous crime.

Sparks of sexual attraction are rekindled and Stephanie risks her new career to determine Joe's guilt or innocence while contending with her meddlesome family.

THE Cineworld cinema in Harlow will be closed from Monday (February 27) for 10 days for refurbishment and will reopen on Friday, March 9. The films being screened tonight, tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday are as follows:

THE ARTIST Writer-director Michel Hazanavicius steps back to the early part of the 20th century when handsome and romantically unattached screen idol George Valentin (BAFTA award winner Jean Dujardin) is setting hearts aflutter. On the set of his latest production, George meets aspiring starlet Peppy Miller (Berenice Bejo) and he is smitten. But with the advent of sound, George's fortunes wane while Peppy's star ascends into the stratosphere to the delight of cigar-chomping studio boss Zimmer (John Goodman). Fame is fickle and George and his trusty manservant Clifton (James Cromwell) fall on painfully hard times, with no obvious end to their misery.

THE MUPPETS A muppet called Walter (voiced by Peter Linz) lives with his human brother Gary (Jason Segel), who is about to celebrate 10 years with his girlfriend Mary (Amy Adams). The trio visits Los Angeles where Walter discovers that scheming oilman Tex Richman (Chris Cooper) plans to bulldoze the Muppet Theatre and drill for the black gold that lies beneath. The only way to thwart Richman is to rally the troops, so Walter galvanises Kermit (Steve Whitmire), Miss Piggy (Eric Jacobson), Fozzie Bear (Jacobson again), Gonzo (Dave Goetz) and the gang into organising a televised appeal in the company of celebrity guests including Whoopi Goldberg and Selena Gomez.

JACK AND JILL Ad man Jack Sadelstein (Adam Sandler) lives with wife Erin (Katie Holmes), their daughter Sofia (Elodie Tugne) and adopted son Gary (Rohan Chand). Every Thanksgiving Jack braces himself for the arrival of twin sister Jill (Sandler again), who has a complete lack of social graces. He can't wait to be rid of her until he realises she could become useful to him. Jack is hoping to persuade Oscar-winning actor Al Pacino to star in a commercial for a new type of coffee for a well-known chain of doughnut shops and Pacino develops a crush on Jill. But unfortunately for Jack, Jill has deep feelings for the Sadelsteins' Mexican gardener, Felipe (Eugenio Derbez).

Trusted

I would like to thank you for all the work that Haart has put in since we instructed you to help us sell our property. I really appreciate it, in particular to Cassie for always being friendly & helping to make this process as painless as possible. I have really enjoyed having you look after me so well. Ms Rehill.

Just dropping you a quick note to say what a pleasurable experience it's been purchasing my house through Haart. I have found that your team and Shawn in particular have helped drive the purchase through smoothly. I would definitely recommend your branch to friends. Regards. Mr Broyd

Should Your House Have Sold By Now?

We are often asked to look at properties that really should have sold, but haven't, and we understand the disappointment of vendors whose experience of the sales process has fallen short of their expectations.

We usually find that it's the way that the average estate agent communicates that causes the frustration not necessarily a lack of buyers.

So if you find yourself with a property that appears to be sticking, you might like to determine the reason by asking yourself the following questions:

- Is your agent as enthusiastic as the day he/she listed your property?
- Do they keep you regularly updated with constructive feedback immediately following a viewing?
- Do they phone you, or do you have to chase them?
- Do they accompany viewings to make sure they are maximising buyer contact and feedback opportunities?

Do they keep you informed of what is available and actually selling in the area and not just their own stock?

Have they provided you with practical marketing advice in terms of how to present your property for sale?

Do they regularly advertise properties similar to your own in order to attract a variety of buyers?

Do you feel like a valued customer with an important property, or one of a number of instructions on their books?

Are they blaming a slower market, or taking responsibility?

If the above rings any bells, it might be worth rethinking your sales strategy with a refreshing kick start before your property goes stale on the market. Why not give us a call before it's too late?

Like a Golf but not a Golf

By Matt Kimberley

THE word 'epic' is probably overused these days. Most of the time the context in which it's used lacks the gravitas that it deserves.

Step into the world of the CLS63 AMG, though, and you remember what the word is there for.

For a start it's just about five metres long and, fitted with AMG wheels and body styling, it's a beast. Yes, the saloon boot is huge and, yes, it's a practical and safe Mercedes, but there are more than a few exterior touches that really get the juices flowing.

The AMG division has always prided itself on making its cars sound incredible. The 6.2-litre naturally-aspirated V8 engine, one of the best-sounding engines ever made and still available in the C63 AMG and SLS AMG, has been replaced by a 5.5-litre twin-turbocharged unit.

It's technically for the sake of emissions and fuel economy, both of which have been improved a lot by the switch, but the bottom line when you tick the option box marked AMG Performance Package is that power stands at 550bhp – enough to give the CLS monumental shove.

The noise is equally amazing. Inside the car the occupants hear a muted V8 rumble. But anyone outside it – especially behind it – is treated to a thunderously loud, effortlessly deep and gloriously exciting cacophony from the exhausts, punctuated by pops and crackles when the driver lifts off the throttle.

The test model had been kitted out with an astonishing amount of options, some of which make more sense than others. The AMG Performance package is great but expensive at around £6,500, while the paint from the special 'designo' catalogue costs £4,500. It's lovely, but not that different from standard metallic to untrained eyes.

In fact this car, which costs over £80,000 to begin with, had a total of £26,000 worth of extras, taking the final asking price comfortably into six figures. It's really got to justify those kinds of numbers, so let's start with performance.

If you have a disused airfield handy the performance is, well, epic. Even if the Tarmac is dry, in temperatures around freezing the rear wheels will spin if you push the throttle hard. Keep it pinned and you'll get violent and relentless acceleration, right up to a point at Autobahn-only speeds where your fear reflexes overtake your willpower or you hit the 155mph speed limiter.

Inside the cabin it's good news for whoever wrote the cheque, because the build quality and standard of materials are outstanding. Almost infinitely adjustable heated and cooled leather seats are an optional extra well worth going for. As far as luxurious places to sit go, the CLS63, with its leather-trimmed dashboard and suede-covered pillars, is up there with the finest.

But amidst all this desperately desirable luxury, it's still a practical Mercedes. The COMAND multimedia system is among the easiest and most enjoyable to use, even if the menu tabs look a little dated.

The ride is generally good, given the size of the wheels. It doesn't like sharp bumps like sunken manhole covers, but at high speed its not inconsiderable weight is controlled really very well. Thankfully the brakes are also top performers.

Leg room for rear passengers is as abundant as they could wish for this side of a long-wheelbase S-Class limo. It's a thoroughly comfortable environment to relax in while the driver enjoys him or herself. The boot will swallow four people's luggage greedily, whether it's golf clubs or suitcases.

With such a well-equipped car packed with options as this one is, any shortfalls are obvious. The standard stereo unit somehow lacks the punch to match the visual and accelerative impacts the car makes. Better to upgrade to the Harman Kardon system, which, with a few tweaks among the settings, offers top-drawer sound quality.

Everything about the CLS63 AMG is epic. From the way its huge presence and (optional) real carbon-fibre body detailing grab attention to the noise it makes, the gadgets it boasts and the sense of absolute quality it purveys, there are few more satisfying cars to own. No car of this size has any right to be this much fun while also being classy, prestigious and dignified.

It's like a meal at Gordon Ramsey's restaurant at Claridges – very pricey with tear-jerkingly expensive additions. But after all is said and done, you could never say it's poor value.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, date of birth, home and mobile phone numbers, email address and nationality. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Your Perfect Home

AS spring arrives many of us start thinking about home improvements. Once the sun starts shining and the days get longer, it seems to bring out an urge to start afresh in the home. Whether it's to enhance your own surroundings or to make your property more attractive to a potential buyer, you can make a big difference to your home whatever your budget.

Although large projects such as loft conversions and room extensions are the two most valuable home improvements you can make, sometimes just a fresh lick of paint or a new colour scheme with some clever soft furnishings can make a world of difference. Well thought out, quality home improvements can give a tremendous boost to your surroundings, not to mention the value of your most prized asset, but botched work and bad judgement can do more harm than good. When considering any home improvement it pays to do your homework...

New bathrooms are estimated to add more than £2,000 to the value of your property and new kitchens over £4,000. Whether your budget will stretch to a complete overhaul or you want to simply update your fittings or give cabinets an overhaul with new handles and paint, it's time and money that won't go to waste.

Narrow loss
for Harlow

HARLOW slipped to a 2-0 defeat at Wapping IV in division four south east of the East Men's Hockey League.

The hosts went ahead after 15 minutes on Saturday and Harlow defender Luke Krzoska kept his team in contention by stopping a number of dangerous Wapping moves near the Harlow goal.

Harlow trailed by a single goal and in going for an equaliser conceded a second goal with five minutes left in the game.

A pass was intercepted in the home half and Wapping went down to the other end and scored.

Huckle blow but he's not Finn-ished yet!

JAMES Huckle suffered a disappointing weekend in Finland when he missed out on the chance of booking a spot in the Great Britain shooting team for the London 2012 Olympics.

The 21 year-old, from Old Harlow, was competing in the 10m men's air rifle category at the European Championships in Vierumäki.

Huckle had problems with the alignment of his barrel and found himself firing wide in his first three rounds.

He scored rounds of 98, 98, 97, 99, 99 and 99, for a total of 589 points as he came 52nd >>shooting on Sunday.

Huckle finished behind fellow British shooter Kenneth Parr (592, 37th).

He was just six points short of the score required to book a place in the GB team for the Olympics.

The Harlow shooter said: "It would have been a bonus to have qualified through the quota system, but it's very disappointing."

"By the halfway stage [three rounds] I had dropped seven points. By then it was too late."

Huckle still has other events to compete at, including the World Cup in London in April.

He expects this event to guarantee him an Olympic spot.

Huckle will be competing in the 50m three positions (standing, prone and kneeling) and the 10m air rifle events at the World Cup.

He added: "It comes down to me beating everybody in Britain in that competition to give myself a god chance. It was a blow with what happened with the air rifle [in Finland], but I am still confident."

Hawks close in on silverware

HARLOW player-coach Shab Niaz has called on his team to bounce back if they are to claim silverware this Sunday.

Hawks lost heavily at Cambridge Cougars four days ago in division one of the Herts County League and now face North Herts Knights in the Herts County Plate final.

This takes place at Queen's School in Bushey.

Niaz said: "We need to get over this defeat [against Cambridge Cougars] and be ready for the chance to win our first silverware in a few seasons."

Hawks endured a terrible first quarter at Cambridge, making only six scores from 21 and missing countless opportunities close to the basket.

Chris Jackson got Hawks on the scoreboard first with a put back from a rebound.

However, Cougars made Hawks pay for their fouls and the Harlow side only doubled their score midway through the first period from a Niaz three-pointer.

Cougars continued to run in scores and led 22-7 going into the second quarter.

The hosts then added six points to their lead.

But then a number of good defensive stops from Hawks enabled them to get out on the break with Lee Jones converting.

Some attacking play from Ayo Oyerinde gave the Hawks another score, but this was as good as it got for the Harlow team who trailed 35-14 at the halfway stage.

Hawks started the third quarter well through a score from Simon Atkinson but were unable to trouble the scoreboard for the next six minutes.

Cougars went on a 12-0 run. Subsequently the teams traded baskets for the last four minutes with Simon Atkinson and Niaz converting close to the basket.

Cougars led 57-30 going into the final quarter.

Hawks improved their defence and stemmed the scoring.

Niaz provided the firepower for the Hawks with a three-point-er and a couple of drives to the basket. A Joe Taffe-Atkins three-pointer topped off a 10-3 run for Hawks.

The Hawks managed to hit a few free-throws before they went down by 24 points.

HARLOW HAWKS: Niaz (14 pts), S. Atkinson (11), Jones (5), Taffe-Atkins (4), Jackson (3), Oyerinde (2), Norkelinas (2), Ball (2), Burgess, L. Atkinson, Morris.

Karting ace no weak Lincs in premier race win

HARLOW youngster Matt Hayden gained an excellent victory when he competed at a premier kart competition in Lincolnshire.

The Peartree Mead Primary School pupil and karting enthusiast won the final of the third round of the PFI Winter Club Championship at the circuit, near Grantham.

From eighth on the grid in the final the 11 year-old started at a blistering pace.

He had leapt to fourth spot by the end of lap one after some great overtaking and by lap 5, Matt had taken the lead.

Only half the race had been completed and leading a strong field of entrants from all over the UK he kept his nerve and held the lead to take the chequered flag. This came after a shaky start for Matt. Six inches of snow had to be cleared ready from the track for racing and conditions during the qualifying stage were very wet and slippery. On lap three, Matt went spinning off at the chicane and into the snow, ending his session. He qualified 19th and so had plenty to do in the pre-final.

After a great first lap Matt gained seven places to move to 12th spot and, after a further seven laps, hauled himself up into 8th place.

This gave him a chance of the trophy which he took, confirming his continuing progress in Honda cadet racing.

Kneesy does it for super Osagie

ANDREW Osagie showed no signs of the knee injury which has dogged him recently as he stormed to a season's best of 1:46.53 – well inside the qualifying time for the World Indoor Championships – in a star-studded 800m race during the Aviva Grand Prix at the NIA in Birmingham on Saturday.

The 24-year-old Harlow athlete finished fifth, just behind fellow Brit Joe Thomas, who also registered a PB of 1:46.35.

The Great Britain qualifying time for the World Champs in Istanbul, Turkey was 1:48.00.

Osagie, of Northbrooks, claimed a notable scalp in Kenyan Richard Kiplagat, who struggled with the swift pace set in the early stages.

Winner Mohamed Aman (Ethiopia) set a new national record of 1:45.40, with Polish runner Marcin Lewandowski second (1:45.41) and Boaz Lalang (Kenya) third in 1:45.75.

Osagie kept out of trouble at the back of the field in the opening laps, but never fell too far behind, to give himself a good chance of a surge in the closing stages.

"It was the perfect race for me," Osagie told the Star moments after coming off the track. "The pace was quick enough for me to run the qualifying time, but I would have loved to have been in the sort of shape I was in last year. I love coming here to race."

The Harlow Athletic Club runner, pictured right, revealed he had also been suffering with a cold in the lead up to the event.

"I was out for about five weeks with the inflammation with my right knee and that hampered me in training. It's been really annoying, but I managed to get over it.

"I come back this weekend with a cold which again is really frustrating."

Looking ahead to Istanbul, Osagie commented: "I went to the world indoors a couple of years ago, so I'm definitely doing something right to get into the team. It's all about consistency.

"As soon as I get to the start line I just want to win, whether it's in the heats, semis or final."

Osagie also thanked all his supporters who had travelled to Birmingham.

"It's great, especially when I hear the shouts of 'Come on Andrew' in an Essex accent – it's the best thing ever."

He also had a message for any of his Harlow AC team-mates who might be unlucky enough to be injured. "Always believe in yourself, believe in your abilities. I know that if I'd get injured a week before the Olympic trials this summer I'd still do them!"

Top test becomes crucial for Rams

THE Rams face a must-win clash when they host leaders Holt this Saturday.

Harlow lie second in the table and need to win as they only lie five points ahead of in-form Stowmarket.

Stowmarket are in third spot after four consecutive wins and are capable of exploiting any slip-ups by Harlow.

The Rams go into the Holt clash on the back of a hard-earned win at Wymondham five days ago.

The Essex side's forwards competed well in the difficult and wet conditions and Harlow went ahead when Michael Dobson slotted over a penalty 10 10 minutes.

The Rams increased their lead on 25 minutes. The Harlow pack went for a pushover try and steadily drove the home forwards back until scrum-half Rhys Powell scooped up the ball and reached forward to cross the line.

The conversion was missed and Harlow led 8-0 at the break.

As the second half progressed, the home side mounted considerable pressure.

Harlow conceded a number of penalties, most of which Wymondham took quickly to try to launch running moves.

This suited the visitors because it prevented the Norfolk side kicking for territorial advantage and gaining a more solid attacking platform through line-outs.

It was only in the closing stages that Wymondham pushed Harlow back into their own twenty-two, but the hosts only scored when it was too late.

On 79 minutes, they won ball at a line-out and launched an excellent backs' move to touch down under the posts.

The conversion was kicked, but the referee immediately blew the whistle for full-time.

HARLOW: Mackie, Vanbeck, L. Bowering (Woodington 25), Heapy, Drake, Dobson, Powell, Roze, Mallia, Cunningham, Twiner, Palmer, Roberts, M. Bowering (Branch 62), Claridge (Eynon 65).

● HARLOW Rugby Club's women's team chalked up a 22-0 victory at Tabard in the RFU National Challenge South East North League division one on Sunday.

The visitors scored two first-half tries through their new wing Amy Spearpoint.

One was converted by Sarah Stimpson to give Harlow a 12-0 lead at half-time.

Shelley Morgan ran in Harlow's third try.

Harlow last try came when good handling preceded full-back Lucie Gibson touching down.

Harlow face Southwold at home in the second round of the RFU National Challenge Cup this Sunday (KO 2pm).

Judo duo win gold medals

TWO gold medals were won by Harlow Judo Club players at a competition in Kent.

Thomas Rees, above right, won all of his fights in the under 38kgs section (orange belt) by Ippons (knockout throws). He clinched the gold with a massive throw in his last fight.

Rebecca Howlett (10) won all her contests in the under 32kgs category (yellow belt) to seal a well-deserved gold medal at the Northbrooks Mini-Mons event in Bromley.

Grand Prix International on Saturday.

The other runner representing GB in Turkey is Joe Thomas (Cardiff).

Van Commenee said: "This is a strong team and one that can realistically challenge for medals and make finals. There are some good athletes coming through and I am looking forward to seeing how they perform on the senior international stage.

"There have been some good performances during the indoor season which bodes well for Istanbul and beyond. The indoor season gives useful information about how athletes are progressing. It is important to remember the focus still remains on London 2012."

'Harlow need to go up'

"We would love to be promoted. We want to be playing in front of bigger crowds. That's what has disappointed me a little. I would like to see far more people support us. We have tried to do everything we can for the area and the team. It would be nice to get more support."

The club's accountants are continuing talks with Her Majesty's Revenue & Customs (HMRC) as they try and claw some money back.

Any money the club can get back from HMRC would help pay the likes of skipper Danny Brown and Leon Lalite, who have dropped down from higher divisions to play for the Hawks.

Harlow's owners have been left frustrated by the amount of people who 'have come out of the woodwork' demanding money owed by the previous administration.

And the club believe tax payments owed, relate to Harlow's previous owners and the club could have had the slate wiped clean.

While Platinum Sports Management took on the club's debts they have been left overwhelmed by the amount of tax owed and this has put pressure on the club.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon and Harlow Council's chief executive Malcolm Morley have been involved to help resolve the club's problems with HMRC.

Instead of engaging in dialogue with the club to try and resolve the tax demands, HMRC appear to have been very quick to issue winding-up orders.

On the pitch Harlow are enjoying success. They are currently fourth but look as though they will have to go down the play-off route for a second successive season because leaders Leiston and second-place Enfield Town are 15 and 13 points clear respectively in the race for the title.

in the first half. We got bullied and gave away two sloppy goals."

Harlow improved after the break, but the home defence dealt with any danger and Redbridge keeper Joe Wright was not put under any serious pressure.

Home substitute James Robinson almost grabbed a third late on, but headed a tough chance from a Wyllie cross over.

Harlow sent keeper Bossu forward for a Harlow free-kick in search of a late equaliser, but this proved elusive.

Chapman added: "We were better in the second half, but did not threaten enough. Outside of the penalty we only had two shots in the game."

HARLOW TN: Bossu, Barnard, Brown, Haverson, Kirby, Kilapi (Ossei 75), Bruno, Lalite, Cowley, Hammond, Deane. Subs not used: Taylor, Mann (gk), Wheeler, Marshall.

Taxing time for HTFC

However, on top of having paid the debt he also ordered that the football club must foot the legal bill run up in the court proceedings by HMRC.

This latest setback has angered Cunningham. "As far as we are concerned this is because of the past [the club's previous owners]. We can only affect things as people put bits of paper in front of us."

"I was surprised to receive a winding-up order. We have acted on it now and hopefully that will be the end of it."

It was the second time this season Harlow had successfully fought off a winding-up order.

In November, the High Court registrar dismissed a case from HMRC after owed taxes were paid up in full.

HERE are the selections for the racing this Friday (February 24) at Harlow Greyhound Stadium: 7.30pm Sims Boy; 7.47pm Jules Vision (NAP); 8.04pm Lambtown Joker; 8.21pm Swift Tiger; 8.38pm Toofan; 8.54pm Dods Sweep; 9.10pm Elishas Baby; 9.26pm Nire Bullet (NB); 9.42pm Tromora Lady; 9.58pm Heeldorunrun; 10.15pm Rathkewell Ruby.

Bogey men give Hawks a fright

Harlow Tn 5, Cheshunt 3

BOSS Danny Chapman was furious with his side's defending as the Hawks made heavy weather of a win over bogey side Cheshunt.

Harlow Town conceded three sloppy goals and were helped by a penalty and an own goal as they contrived to try and throw away a 4-1 lead on Saturday.

Chapman told the Star afterwards: "I don't think we defended at all well today. We got the three points and that's the only positive thing I can take out of today."

"I don't think we were good enough. I don't think we kept the ball well enough or passed it well enough. We have gifted them three goals. I'm annoyed and disappointed."

Harlow had right-back Donny Barnard in central defence as cover for the banned Ryan Kirby, while midfielder Dave Cowley made a first start after rejoining the club from Grays.

The hosts went 1-0 up on seven minutes. Mark Taylor's free-kick on the right hit the Cheshunt wall, but it came straight back to him and he hammered it into the top right corner.

But it was 1-1 on 11 minutes.

Josh Hutchinson headed in unmarked after a right-wing cross from Sam Byles. This was 60 seconds after Cowley hit the bar at other end.

Harlow went 2-1 ahead on 28 minutes. A lovely Tom Bruno cross from the right into the six-yard box was met by Cowley who headed in off the right post.

The Hawks made it 3-1 on 37 minutes. Jeff Hammond, returning from a two-game ban, was brought down by Cheshunt keeper Sam Tanner in the box after a neat through ball from Hawks left-back Danny Brown.

Tanner was rightly yellow carded.

Brown smashed the penalty – his 11th goal of the season – into the bottom right corner.

A minute into the second half and Hammond made it 4-1, slotting a low shot in from six yards.

From game over sloppy Harlow let Cheshunt back into the game.

Luke Marshall headed off the line from Gary Bowes' shot after an initial save from Bossu on 50 minutes.

The Ambers made it 4-2 when the impressive Kevin Ashwood struck a powerful shot into the bottom left corner on 65 minutes.

Bossu tipped an Ashwood free-kick onto the bar and away for a corner as the visitors continued to dominate.

Harlow made it 5-2 on 77 minutes. Sub Michael Deane cut into the box

Cheshunt were allowed a third goal on 84 minutes when sub Chris Sargent hammered in a shot from 9 yards which hit the bar and bounced in after more shocking Hawks defending.

HARLOW TN: Bossu 5, Taylor 4, Brown 5, Haverson 4, Barnard 5, BRUNO 6 (Kilapi 72), Marshall 4, Martin 3, Wixon 4 (Deane 59, 5), Hammond 5 (Peagram 81), Cowley 5. Subs not used: Wheeler, Mann. Att: 218.

Wixon ruled out of clash with play-off rivals Grays

STRIKER Piers Wixon is set to miss the crucial six-pointer at play-off rivals Grays Athletic.

The forward came off in the second half of Saturday's 5-3 win over Cheshunt with a hamstring injury and could be out for a fortnight.

"He's probably looking up to two weeks [out]. It's not a pull, it's a strain," said Hawks boss Danny Chapman. "It needs a bit of rest."

Meanwhile, midfielder John Martin has ended his spell at Harlow Town.

The 32-year-old former Leyton Orient player signed forms with Harlow as a favour to his friend, Hawks boss Danny Chapman, to cover for the loss of Leon Lalite (suspension) and Getro Kilapi (knee injury).

However, both have returned to first team action now.

Martin has played in Harlow's last three games, but appears to have struggled with the pace at this level.

Chapman has ruled out bringing in any more players in the short-term.

Meanwhile, goalkeeper Bert Bossu is determined the side get back to winning ways with victory at Grays following the disappointing 2-1 reverse at Redbridge on Tuesday.

Bossu was disappointed with his own performance in the 3-0 home loss against Ryman division one north leaders Leiston last month.

He said: "We have not been defending well. The manager has not been happy with the performances. We will know where we are going to be after the Grays game. We have got Getro and Belly [Lalite] back and we have not had them for six weeks. You cannot expect them to be match fit straight away."

The Frenchman has been impressed with striker Jeff Hammond and believes he can get the goals to ensure Harlow secure a play-off place.

"Jeff has brought something to the team. He looks a really good player – and Dave [Cowley] is a really good player," he added.

Hawks boss Chapman does not think the Grays game is any more important than any other game, but knows his side must quickly find some form – or miss out on the play-offs.

"Football is about getting results. We will do what ever it takes. It [the Grays game] won't be the be all and end all of our season. It's an important game. I won't make it out to be a massive game. If we get beat it does not mean we are not going to get promoted. We will look to get three points – that's our aim and another step towards our goal of promotion. Every game is important."

"We should be up for every game. Against teams in the top four, it's a bit more pressure. It will be a difficult game."

Defender Lamar Lemonius is still ruled out, while centre-half Jack Dekanshi has left the club and moved to division one north rivals Waltham Forest.

Taxing time for Hawks

Club end threat of winding-up order

By ALAN SCOTT

SOME people say that once the taxman gets a sniff of you, he just won't let you go.

And while Her Majesty's Revenue & Customs (HMRC) has attracted unwanted attention with demands for money its owed from high-profile football clubs Rangers and Portsmouth, it was little Harlow Town which has felt the full force of its power over the last week or so.

Not only did the club – on the verge of bankruptcy just over two years ago – have to fork out the thousands of pounds it owed to avoid its second winding-up order in just over three months, it suffered another blow as it has also been told it must pay HMRC's legal costs as well.

It comes at a time when the Hawks are struggling to regularly get more than 200 through the gate for home games, despite riding high in Ryman division one north this season.

Money is tight everywhere and Harlow could have well done without this added burden.

It meant an unhappy second anniversary for Platinum Sports Management (PSM), which took over the cash-crippled club on February 18 2010.

It is believed the club chairman John Barnett stumped up £24,000 to settle the latest tax demand from HMRC.

This prevented Harlow from going into receivership for the second time in less than three years.

Anyone who has taken a trip to the ground can see the thousands of pounds spent by PSM

'Harlow need to go up'

HAWKS chairman John Barnett knows the club desperately need promotion this season to boost the coffers and take the club to the next level.

Barnett has watched with envy as the club he used to run – Wingate & Finchley – have seen their gates climb from 75 to more than 300 since they went up last season.

The Londoners beat Harlow Town in a play-off last term and even attracted 700 for one game against local rivals Wealdstone.

"Wingate used to get 75 people – I should know I used to be chief executive and Tom [Cunningham] was manager," Barnett said.

came after a bright start which saw them go ahead on 17 minutes.

Lalife was fouled in the box and expert penalty taker Danny Brown fired the spot-kick low into the corner.

to turn the club's fortunes around and make Barrows Farm the envy of non-League clubs at this level of football.

The latest demand from HMRC came at a time when both Barnett and co-owner Tom Cunningham were away on holiday and out of the country.

Accountants for PSM were at London's High Court on Monday to resolve this latest case.

Registrar Nicholls dismissed the winding-up order after being told that the club had now paid its undisclosed tax debt in full.

The Motormen bounced back and equalised in the 32nd minute.

Perry Burns threaded the ball over the top for Lewis Dark to drive a shot past Hawks keeper Bertrand Bossu and into the net.

It got worse for Harlow as they fell behind six minutes later.

Burns exchanged passes with Dark before the latter clipped the ball across for Vinnie Durrant to tuck home.

Subsequent first-half action saw Bossu make two sharp saves, including an excellent one to keep out a goal-bound 25-yard shot from Mitchell Das.

Chapman said: "It was a poor performance. We did not compete well

Osagie's World class

HAVING clocked the World Indoor Championships qualifying time on Saturday, Harlow's Andrew Osagie was celebrating after being named in the Great Britain squad this week for the prestigious event.

UKA announced a 39-strong squad on Tuesday as part of the Aviva Great Britain & Northern Ireland team for the 2012 IAAF World Indoor Championships in Istanbul, Turkey from March 9-11.

It will be the second time the Harlow Athletic Club member has competed at the World Championships.

He competed in Qatar two years ago.

Osagie, who turned 24 on Sunday, was one of the two athletes named by UKA Head Coach Charles van Commence for the 800m event.

Osagie said: "I'm really looking forward to it and hopefully will get in the shape to run a time of 1:45.

"I'm aiming for at least a semi-final spot. Two years ago I got into the semi-finals and want to get in the final."

He added: "The competition will be really tough as there have been a lot of quick times being run.

"I have a bit of training to do and two races as well [including an international race in Stockholm today] before the World Indoors event."

Osagie, of Northbrooks, clocked 1 min 46.3 at Birmingham in the Aviva

Loss dents play-off hopes

THE Hawks paid the price for a very bad display with a defeat against Redbridge at the Oaks Stadium on Tuesday.

Harlow Town restored Leon Lalife to the midfield after his three-match ban ended.

He replaced John Martin who has now left Harlow.
